

WAR OF EXTERMINATION AT SANITARY CAFETERIA

Proprietor Declares War on Germs—
Cafe Crowded Yesterday.

Although the sign on the window of the Sanitary Cafeteria on South Central avenue reads that the doors will be open until 8 o'clock in the evening, they were closed last night at 6:50. The people who came before this hour had a good dinner. The people who came after it had nothing, and to placate the wrath of the hungry ones who came late to ask for bread and were given less than a stone, it must be stated that Watson, the proprietor, had a good reason for closing. The run on his cafeteria, completely emptied the roast pans, stew pans, dessert counters and every other department of the place of edibles. Watson was of the opinion that it was better to close the doors than have people come in and have them turn around and walk out again with their gnawing hunger still unsatisfied. So he closed them.

Since its opening last week the Sanitary Cafeteria has had a full measure of success, for the proprietor has made a slogan of one word that would be sufficient to draw a crowd if all other attractive features were left out. The appearance of the large room yesterday was inviting, each table being decorated with a vase of beauty roses, and so tasteful was the arrangement that it was a pleasure to go in and sit down at one of the fifteen tables, covered with white linen and silver that would make the average restaurant silver tarnish with envy.

Aside from the general attractiveness of the room, the decorations, the flowers, the linen and the silver, the kitchen is a big department of the new establishment. It is not located directly back of the dining room, which relieves the patrons from breathing the conglomerate odor of cooking foods. It is over in the main part of the Commercial hotel, a door and passage giving easy and convenient entrance into the cafeteria. The sterilizer, a big contrivance of nickel-plated steel, takes up part of the rear end of the room, where everything is spick and span, and burnished up to a polish that would make the heart of any housewife glad. This feature is dwelt upon by the proprietor in his advertisements, as he knows the desire most people have to get away from the habit of wiping their knives and forks on their napkins before beginning the important process of eating. There is no necessity of doing this in the sanitary cafeteria, as every piece of silver and china that goes to the table is thoroughly sterilized before it is given out to the patrons, and seven minutes in the big nickel-steel sterilizer, where the water is kept at a temperature of 212 degrees, would kill any germ of any kind, whatsoever, no matter how tenacious it might be of existence.

The success of the new restaurant is assured, as the place will be kept attractive by the use of flowers for decoration and clean by the use of the sterilizer. Beauty and cleanliness will make Watson's establishment a credit to the city.

SORRY HER LOT.

Sorry her lot who loves too well,
Heavy the heart that hopes but vainly,
Sad are the sighs that own the spell
Uttered by eyes that speak too plainly;
Heavy the sorrow that bows the head
When Love is alive and Hope is dead!

Sad is the hour when sets the Sun—
Dark is the night to Earth's poor daughters
When to the ark the wearied one
Flies from the empty waste of waters!
Heavy the sorrow that bows the head
When Love is alive and Hope is dead!

JUST LIKE A KNIFE THRUST

The sharp twinge of pain in the small of the back that strikes you after any sudden twist or awkward movement, tells of weak, sick, inflamed kidneys.

Men, women and children have bad backs when the kidneys are sick. Especially do older folks suffer with bad kidneys, for the kidneys are the hard-worked organs of the body, and an active life often wears them out before there are any other signs of advancing age.

Learn the early warnings of sick kidneys and then it will be easy to take any trouble in the beginning, and with Doan's Kidney Pills, to make a quick and lasting cure.

The common early signs of weakened kidneys are backache, lame back, rheumatic pains, neuralgia, sharp pains when stooping or lifting, nervousness, irritability, failing eyesight, sallow, drawn features, dark circles around the eyes, dizzy spells, tired-out state, despondency.

And there are usually disturbances of the urine—too frequent passages, scanty passages, with scalding or burning pain, dark-colored, heavy

NOT A BOOTLEGGER BUT A SHIRTBOSOMER

Arrest of an Itinerant Vendor of Strong Drink.

The vigilance of Constable Murphy, who had been watching a colored brother who said his name was Gee and who had been suspected of violating the excise laws, was rewarded yesterday when the officer caught him in the act.

Gee's bootlegging operations were naturally carried on only on Sunday. On other days there is no occupation for the bootlegger in Phoenix.

After arresting Gee, the officer raided his headquarters and found a miscellaneous lot of malt, vinous and spirituous liquors. There were several bottles of beer and flasks of whisky. Some of the beer bottles had been opened but on others the metal caps of the bottles had been replaced with a cork. In such cases, the bottles were not full.

Gee carried his merchandise around in the bosom of his shirt, selling either by the original package or by the drink from the bottle. As Gee could not carry ice in the bosom of his shirt, the beer was of such a high temperature that one would drink it only on Sunday or election day.

Gee's prices were based on the risk he took of going to jail. For instance, the price of a half pint of whisky was a half dollar and it was not a high grade of whisky either. The absence of a "head" and a certain cloudiness indicated that there had been a generous admixture of water. But any kind of whisky, to Gee's clientele, was better than no whisky at all.

His case will be further investigated by Justice Johnstone today.

IRON SPRINGS

Misses Mabel McNeil, Georgia Bailey and Ella Luhrs entertained on last Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. Winslow and Mr. Johnson, all of Prescott. The guests ate dinner with their hostesses and enjoyed a social evening, returning on the midnight train.

Among the arrivals Saturday were W. H. Robinson and Miss Dorothy, who during their short stay here occupied the Bert Robinson cottage. They left on Monday to prepare their new cottage in Prescott for the arrival of the rest of the family whom they expected the latter part of the week. Before leaving for Prescott Mr. Robinson stated that he and his family much preferred to live in Iron Springs, but that he, for personal reasons, was forced to live in Prescott, and of course the family went where he did.

During the last week the A. G. Hulett family has completed several important improvements at their cottage. They have added a large addition to the house and made a vast number of minor improvements, all of which help to make their home one of the coziest cottages of all the camp.

The midnight train Saturday added to our numbers Mr. and Mrs. James S. Griffin and Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Gough.

A poster in the store announces to the world that the regular dances for the season of 1911 begin on Saturday, July 1.

E. J. Bennett returned home Sunday after having spent a few days here getting Mr. Bennett comfortably located.

The W. D. Pulver family enjoyed a most delightful ride last Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. James S. Griffin returned home Sunday, after spending a day watching the work progress on the Wiley cottage, which they now own. The Griffins are having a large kitchen, a bath room, a back screen porch and a veranda built on the cottage, and they will later on have it painted.

Mr. Curtis, one of the carpenters who has been working for Mr. Hulett, returned from Prescott early in the week.

There are still a few cottages for rent, including the Gordon cottage, the Dr.

Elmon's place, the Eden's cottage, and the Plath cottage.

Persons just arriving here find great trouble in recognizing the old Jerry Milay cottage through the many improvements added by the new owner, I. J. Johnson. Mr. Johnson has added a screen front porch, and several coats of paint, having also made several other changes.

The E. A. Marshall family came Wednesday to occupy the Robinson cottage, which they recently purchased. They have had several improvements made about the house and will probably paint the cottage later on.

The past week has been a very dull one from a social standpoint, for all of the society folk have been so busy that they have had no time to spare for social doings. During the coming week, however, there will be many social gatherings.

The arrivals Thursday were Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Goldberg, Miss Hazel and Miss Selma Goldberg, Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Goldwater, the two Goldwater children, Mrs. W. S. Heflin and three sons, and Master Chester Goldberg.

Mrs. H. I. Latham and son, John, spent Thursday afternoon in Prescott.

Mr. Curtis, who has been helping A. G. Hulett, broke camp and went to Prescott Thursday.

It is interesting to note how very conveniently the trains run for persons wishing to spend an afternoon in Prescott. A train leaves for there at 1 o'clock, just after lunch, and another returns a few minutes to six, just in time to give one a full afternoon in Prescott.

Dr. Ancil Martin left for Los Angeles Thursday afternoon to attend the convention of the American Medical society.

Mr. Hulett went home to Phoenix Thursday afternoon.

The arrivals to the camp Friday were Mrs. J. S. Griffin, Master Jack Griffin, Mrs. E. T. Collins and Mary Josephine Collins.

Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Goldwater went for a short visit to Prescott Friday.

The H. H. McNeil family arrived on the midnight train Thursday. They are a welcome addition to the camp life.

F. S. Rexford, 615 New York Life Bldg., Kansas City, Mo., says: "I had a severe attack of a cold which settled in my back and kidneys and I was in great pain from my trouble. A friend recommended Foley Kidney Pills and I used two bottles of them and they have done me a world of good." Elvey & Hulett, quality druggists.

COLONEL ELWOOD HADLEY.

"A. E. M." writing for the Native American, printed by the Indian school pupils, has the following to say of Col. Elwood Hadley, whose sudden death occurred at Mesa last Monday: "As the colonel had many friends in this part of the county, the article will be of interest to them:

"Colonel Hadley was the agent for the Pima Indians from 1887 to 1902. During this time the new school-house, the ice plant, the physician's residence, the dispensary and the six day schools were built and many other improvements made at Sacaton. As Indian agent he was very successful in his management of the Pima reservation and he accomplished a great deal for the welfare of the Indians. By his death they have lost a good friend."

"Colonel Hadley had large property interests in Florence and the Casa Grande valley. He came to Arizona nearly twenty-five years ago, and he was one of the founders of Arizona, which was quite a winter resort from 1889 to 1893. This project, together with the development of the Casa Grande valley, was abandoned in great measure in 1894, owing to the failure of water for irrigation. Colonel Hadley has always been a strong advocate for a storage dam on the Gila river, as this would not only furnish water for irrigating the Pima lands, but would also reclaim a large amount of fertile land throughout the Casa Grande valley."

Work Will Soon Start after you take Dr. King's New Life Pills, and you'll quickly enjoy their fine results. Constipation and indigestion vanish and fine appetite returns. Mrs. Elsie Adams is here from California visiting with her mother, Mrs. Eli Tripp.

"Jack" Steward is believed to be on the verge of purchasing a new auto. He has workmen constructing a garage on the rear of his town property.

Balvey Herring and Bert Cosper had a reunion at the A. & B. store Saturday. Before Mr. Herring was married both he and Mrs. Herring resided in New Mexico, and there met Mr. Cosper. The latter was glad to find his old-time friends in Mesa, and his expression was worth photographing when Mr. Herring introduced his first born and the "twins."

Mr. Herring explained to Cosper, who is married but not a father, that the twins were due entirely to the climate and soil of the Mesa section.

Walter Nash has disposed of twenty acres of land to H. B. Morris, the latter having concluded to become a prosperous Mesa farmer. The land is located southeast of town.

In response to news that her father was suffering from a recent paralytic stroke, Miss Hattie Hayes left Saturday evening for Manzanola, Colorado. She will remain there to care for her stricken parent.

Winona Marsh has been under the doctor's care recently, but is improving.
